

Condors and Canyons
Grand Canyon Raft Trip

Join Geologist Dr Peg Rees and
Artist/Naturalist Sharon K. Schafer

May 26 - June 3, 2011

Experience the Grand Canyon!

Join artist/naturalist Sharon K. Schafer and geologist Margaret (Peg) Rees, Ph.D., for a one-of-a-kind Grand Canyon experience. Departing from Las Vegas, Nevada, we will travel to Marble Canyon on the Colorado Plateau.

Chris Parish of the Peregrine Fund's Grand Canyon Condor Program will meet us there to discuss the reintroduction of California Condors to the area. At the end of the day, we will have an opportunity to view and photograph the magnificent birds in the wild.

The raft trip is outfitted by Moki Mac River Expeditions, an authorized NPS concessionaire. They will meet us at Marble Canyon to brief us and hand out dry bags for our gear. That first evening, we will stay at Marble Canyon Lodge.

After breakfast the next morning, we are transported to nearby Lee's Ferry for an eight-day motorized raft trip through Marble Canyon and the Grand Canyon. Taking eight days gives us plenty of time for photographing and learning about the natural history and geology of the canyons. We will explore beautiful places such as the Little Colorado River, Deer Creek Falls, Elves Chasm, and Redwall Cavern.

From the take out near Pierce Ferry, we will travel by motor coach for about 3.5 hours to Las Vegas while viewing the extraordinary beauty of the Mojave Desert.

Pre-trip multimedia presentations and materials will help you prepare for the trip and develop an appreciation for the unique adventure that awaits you.
